In order to investigate the possible correlation between the MEK3/MOK3 expression and the development of human lung cancers, we analyzed MEK3/MOK3 expression in lung cancers and normal lung tissues. We analyzed 101 cases of lung cancers and 64 cases of normal lung tissues using real-time quantitative PCR, semi-quantitative PCR and immunohistochemistry (IHC) to detect the MEK3/MOK3 expressions. Our results showed that the MEK3/MOK3 levels in lung cancers were clearly reduced compared with those in normal lung tissues. MEK3/MOK3 expressions were found to be correlated with T, N and clinical stage in lung cancers. To our knowledge, this study first reports the MEK3/MOK3 expression levels f678ea9f9e
